

WEATHER—GENERALLY FAIR.

Public

WEEKLY EDITION

THE DAILY PUBLIC LEDGER, MONDAY, JULY 12, 1915.

ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

Sam King

William Minton
Hidden, and deep and never dry—
Or howling or at rest,
A living spring of hope doth lie
In every human breast.

Grace Kule

WENT TO SLEEP

Gertrude Tolle
At the Depot, and the F. F. V. Paid
No Attention To His Snoring and Passed Him Up.

Richard Watkins
County Judge Rice was a visitor to Cincinnati the day following the big storm last week, and of course, the authorities had not been advised of his coming, so the genial Judge was compelled to walk, as there were no cars

Roe M. Stevens
running and the streets could not be very well traversed by autos and in consequence his feet were sore and his feelings worse, as he finally got an auto to take him six squares for $6!

Louise Sproenberg
Promising his family that he would be back that night, and every one who knows the Judge knows that he never breaks a promise, he went to the depot in Covington a tired and footsore

Miss Gladys Tomlinson
Limb of the law and sat down to read a paper, and while looking over the storm news went to sleep.

Along came C. & O. train No. 4, his last chance to get to this city that night, and the Judge kept on sleeping.

When he awoke he asked a man standing outside when the train was due for Maysville.

John C. Wilde
At that time the train he was waiting for was blowing into Maysville, and the man told him it had passed over an hour before.

And you will have to get him to tell you how he squared things with his good wife when he got home the day after.

Rev. J. W. Simpson

SMITTY GONE.

Omar Dodson
Mr. Charles E. Smith, now of Cleveland, O., who has spent a week's vacation in this city, left Saturday morning.

Lester E. Staker
ing, returning to Cleveland with Mr. John Cochran in his machine. On crossing the Mason-Dixon line, Smitty was heard singing that popular song, "The Girl I Left Behind Me."

Mrs. Ida Spurgeon
Dr. Kahn, the graduate optometrist and optician, will be in his office in the O'Keefe Building today.

All July bills now ready. All accounts due. Come in and pay and get tickets on the two BIG PRIZES — Touring Car and Roadster. Both to be given away some time this winter.

MIKE BROWN
"The Square Deal Man"

LOOK FOR YOUR NAME

Rev. A. F. Felt
Valuable Prizes To Be Given Free Monday Night At Washington Opera House.

Rev. J. M. Literal
SPECIAL NOTICE.—In order to get a prize at the Washington Opera House Monday night, your name must have been printed in THE PUBLIC LEDGER, on either Friday, Saturday or Monday, and if you are lucky enough to have your name called, you must have a copy of THE LEDGER in your hands when you answer, with your name in it, otherwise you will not get a present. Be warned, and have a LEDGER with you. If you are not a subscriber, subscribe now and get the copies you need. We have extras on hand.

William S. Race

Miss Harriett Rains
Watch for the Doll Baby Show announcement on Tuesday. Something doing all the week at the Washington Opera House.

This is the biggest and best stunt ever pulled off in Maysville.

Miss Elizabeth H. Reed
WORD FROM LUKE M'LUKE.

The following clipping from Sunday's Enquirer will be of interest to Ledger readers:

(Luke McLuke.)

THANKS!
"Dear Luke: Permit me to thank you upon your remarkably

A. D. Cole
keen insight in the direction of feminine wearing apparel. One of your latest observations concerning the peculiarity that the women who used to wear rick-rack on her underwear now has a daughter who wears shadow lace on her combination suit is absolutely the condition of affairs. Having been in the business for twenty-five years,

Katherine Calvert
I can vouch for the accuracy of your statement, because I still remember having sold the rick-rack to the ladies, and because today I am selling combination suits with shadow lace to their daughters. Psychology, eth-

Elizabeth Orr
ics, logic, poetry and philosophy all find their substantial expression in the garb of uncommonly common sense within the scope of your work. May your achievements be productive of wisdom to those who hold themselves wiser than they are.—S. Straus, Maysville, Ky."

Wadsworth Cole
Mr. Chenoweth Smart and party returned in their motor boat Sunday after going through many experiences while in Cincinnati during the storm Wednesday night. He was lucky to be summoned.

Miss A. M. Casey, Health Nurse.
return with his boat, for many lauches were sunk while the storm was in progress.

Gilbert M. Williams

MRS. TIMOTHY MENDEL

Rev. E. C. Jesse
Dies After a Few Hours of Terrible Suffering.

Mrs. T. A. Duke
Mrs. Timothy Mendel, who early Saturday morning was severely burned by gasoline, lingered but a few hours later, when at 11:30 o'clock she passed away, due to the inhaling of Ray B. Cobb Inflammable gas.

Mrs. Mendel was born in Maysville and lived the sixty-two years of her life in this city. She was Miss Elizabeth Miller before her marriage, her family being one of the old residents Mrs. Eliza B. Clinger of the city.

The condition of her husband, Mr. Timothy Mendel, who was for many years watchman at the cotton factory, and has long since been an invalid, had affected her physically and mentally.

Mary E. Clifford
The family lived on the Germantown pike, just outside of the city limits. Mrs. Mendel, besides her husband, is survived by two children, Fred and Kate, and two brothers, Jacob and Pete, who are in the harness business here. The family has lost its best friend and the community a kind resident.

John H. Clark

Funeral services will be held Tuesday by Rev. John Barbour at the home. Interment in the Maysville Frank Claypool cemetery. The time of the funeral will be stated later.

John Morton Clark

PAINFULLY INJURED

Harry M. Clark
Mrs. Sallie Grish Thrown Violently To the Ground By Stepping Off a Street Car Before It Had Stopped.

Andrew S. Clark
Mrs. Sallie Grish, the housekeeper at "The Inn," on East Second street, was painfully injured Saturday night almost in front of her home, "The Inn," in the Fifth Ward.

She was on a street car when the Elizabeth Childs storm broke about 8 o'clock and it is thought became frightened at the approach of the storm.

When near her home she rang the bell for the car to stop, but did not E. P. Browning wait until it had stopped, and when she stepped off she fell face down in the street.

A number of men on the car jumped off and picked her up and carried Dr. Austin Quigley her into her home, when a physician was summoned.

Mary A. Buckley
She was badly bruised about the head, face, arms and body, but was resting easily this morning.

Rev. H. B. Wilhoite
Only a miracle saved the most excellent lady's life, as the car was going pretty fast when she stepped off, and the wonder is that she was not killed outright.

Charlotte Cartmell
AUTOMOBILE SALES.

Miss A. M. Casey
The Central Garage has sold the following machines: Messrs. Hal Curran and Will Sproenberg, Overlanders; Margaret Childs

Mr. Myers of Mt. Olivet, Overland; C. E. Jones of Helena, Ford, and Mr. Addison Baldwin, a Ford.

William Cabish

Ruth Hall
COUNTY COURT.

George Bauer
On Saturday the sale bill of Hugh T. Campbell, deceased, was produced in court and filed and ordered recorded.

Nannie Case
U. R. K. OF P.

Violet Graham
Regular meeting tonight of the U. R. K. of P. Special business.

W. T. MARTIN, Recorder.

J. A. Hill, Captain.

Maggie Greenlee
Maysville Lodge No. 52, F. & A. M.

will meet in regular session this evening at 7:30 o'clock. All members urged to be present. Visitors most cordially invited to attend.

C. MATHEWS, W. M.

P. G. Smoot, Secretary.

Mary Gage
Rev. Frank Bierley, of Lexington, passed through this city Saturday.

Mr. Tom Cook left Saturday evening for down the river points.

Mayne Archdeacon

Mr. P. E. O'Neal, of Augusta, spent Sunday here visiting relatives.

Annette Desmond

Ledger

ONE COPY—ONE CENT.

A GREAT REDUCTION

In going over our stock we find that we are OVERLOADED, and have decided to REDUCE STOCK, and it goes at cost.

This space will not permit us to list it all. One great bargain is 100,000 feet of an EXCELLENT GRADE of OAK SIDING. This goes at $2 PER HUNDRED. All other yard stock greatly reduced.

Don't miss this opportunity to get what you want in lumber and building material at the lowest prices ever known in Maysville. Terms at this reduced price are CASH.

THE MASON LUMBER COMPANY, LEADERS

CORNER SECOND AND LIMESTONE STREETS.

A. A. M'LAUGHLIN.

PHONE 519.

MAYSVILLE, KY.

L. N. BEHAN.

GREAT DAMAGE

Bernard T. Tomlinson
Done By Second Destructive Storm
of the Week.

George H. Frank

As a result of the downpour of Saturday night a sewer back of the Gallenstein blacksmith shop, on West Third street, became stopped, causing almost a river to run through the Mary Evelyn Holliday property of residents on West Third street. This is a common occurrence, though it has not happened lately.

At many places on the street muddy sediment was deposited by the backing of water on the sidewalks.

George Marsh

Robert Morris, a foreman at the dam while letting an engine down an incline, was caught and sustained a broken leg and was otherwise injured. He was removed to the hospital, where he is receiving treatment.

Robert Toup.

John Hunt Desmond

B. KAHN & SON, O. D.

EXPERT OPTROMF-TRISTS AND OPTICIANS will be in their office in the O'Keefe building, every Monday and Tuesday.

All the latest methods for the examination of the eye used by an expert. Charges for glasses reasonable.

Evenings 7 to 9.

Phone 662.

Bertha Tolle

TURNED AROUND AND CAME RIGHT BACK AGAIN.

William Throckmorton

Mr. Eugene McNamara and James January, who left Saturday evening at 4 o'clock for Portsmouth, returned in their canoe Sunday morning.

Pigiron Kelly

at 6 o'clock. All their paraphernalia was soaked through and little sleep did they get that night.

Bertha Tolle

Sunshine Brand Cakes and Biscuits

We now have the agency for this superior line of cakes in bulk and packages. Come in and let us show you this new line.

Stanley Wood

DINGER BROS.,

107 West Second Street.

Phone 20.

The M. F. Williams Drug Store

sells you the BEST and the PUREST. They have QUICK SERVICE at all hours, DAY and NIGHT, and to all COURTEOUS TREATMENT. FACIAL PREPARATIONS A SPECIALTY. The good Sodas and Sundaes, the sanitary way of serving.

"AT THE CORNER" PHONE 91.

D. HECHINGER & CO.
MAYSVILLE'S BIGGEST AND BEST CLOTHING AND SHOE STORE

Read This List Carefully If You Intend Taking a Vacation This Summer

Outing Trousers in flannel, serge, duck or Khaki. H. T. Sutcliffe

Slip-ons, the handy, stylish outer coat.

Motor Dusters, well tailored.

Glen Mearns

Gaberdines, loose and very comfortable.

Palm Beach Suits in a great variety.

Garfield Holliday

Bathing Suits in an interesting variety of colors.

These are only a few seasonable items from the stock of Summer Clothing

Specialties that you will see at this Store.

Earl Brothers

D. HECHINGER & CO.

STOCK REDUCING SHOE SALE.

William Hockaday

This is a general clean-up sale of Summer Footwear for men, women and children, and among the various lots are some of the most remarkable values we have ever offered.

BARKLEY'S SHOE STORE.

Mrs. Carrie Russell

Dr. Kahn, the graduate optometrist and optician, will be in his office in the O'Keefe Building today.

Mr. Edward Mitchell, of Lexington, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Molly Mitchell, of East Second street.

McAfee Case

FIRST WHE

THE PUBLIC LEDGER

DAILY—EXCEPT SUNDAY, FOURTH OF JULY, THANKSGIVING
AND CHRISTMAS.

THE LEDGER PUBLISHING COMPANY.

John J. Xavier Editor

C. E. Dietrich General Manager

Local and Long
Distance Telephone No. 40. | OFFICE—PUBLIC LEDGER BUILDING,
MAYSVILLE, KY.

Entered at the Maysville, Ky., Postoffice as second-class mail matter.

SUBSCRIPTIONS—BY MAIL
One Year $3.00
Six Months 1.50
Three Months 75
DELIVERED BY CARRIER, 25 Cents
Per Month 25 Cents
Payable to Collector at end of Month.

A BLUNDER BY THE PRESIDENT.

The first requisite of a good manager of any large business is ability to select competent assistants. No matter how able the manager, the enterprise can not succeed if for any reason the subordinates are not fitted for the positions to which they are assigned, and herein lies the key to the failure of the Wilson administration.

Having had no business experience himself, the President should have made a special effort to secure the assistance of men of large experience in handling important matters, but with one or two exceptions his cabinet appointments were monumental mistakes, and were made for sectional, political or personal reasons apparently without any regard to the fitness or ability of the men.

To the premier position in the cabinet he appointed a man who, while he possessed the power to force Mr. Wilson's nomination upon the Baltimore convention, had never shown any marked business ability, and who would probably never have been heard from were it not for a chance passage in his speech before the Chicago convention in 1896. Mr. Bryan showed his true caliber in his traitorous desertion of his chief at a time when he was most in need of advice and support and this alone is sufficient to mark his appointment as a colossal blunder.

The Secretary of the Navy had given no evidence of his especial fitness before his appointment and has given less since; the present Mrs. McAdoo furnishes us with the reason for the appointment of the Secretary of the Treasury, and when serious charges were brought against the Attorney General the President put him out of the way by appointing him to the Supreme Court. And thus it is with almost the entire cabinet.

Any business man of ordinary experience, having at his command as the President does, every citizen of the United States, could have made, with but a short two-weeks' study of the situation, a far better selection than was made by President Wilson, and it is evident that the President himself realizes his blunder, for whenever some problem of real importance arises, he takes personal charge of it or authorizes the employment of an expensive corps of special counsel.

But the head of the organization can not escape responsibility. He had absolute control over the selection of his cabinet, and their incompetence proves his own incapacity as the manager of the largest business concern in the world.

CHERISH AND PROTECT YOUR WIFE.

There was once a miserable beggar who upon being asked why he did not go to work replied that he was afraid to work because work had killed his wife. And there is food for a world of thought in his remark.

There are women in this world who know nothing but work, the hardest kind of grinding, nerve-racking death dealing and soul destroying toil.

The man finishes his day's work and smokes a pipe in peace, but the wife toils on without cease, washing dishes, ironing, mending, slaving, until ready to drop. And though but few short years ago the husband solemnly promised to love, cherish and protect that wife, he now appears oblivious to the fact that her life blood is slowly ebbing away in toil too heavy for her frail strength.

Fortunately, such cases are not in the majority, but even one is a crying shame to mankind and none should exist.

Oscar Price, of West Virginia, sees great prosperity ahead. Oscar says it in a newspaper interview—omitting to add that he has just been appointed to a good job as auditor in the Interior Department.

In these days, one never can tell, when one hears the word "court," whether a man is talking about the way he won a woman or the place where he lost her.

The Secretary of Agriculture is out west inspecting the government forests. Next year all the Democrats will be taking to the tall timber.

Lots of strange things are done in the name of precedent.

A Logical Objection.

F. Irving Fletcher at a dinner of advertising men at the Gitz Carlton in New York, said:

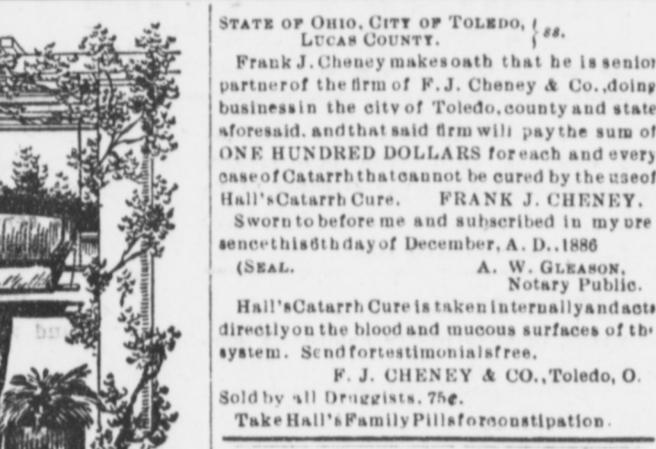

"There is only one logical objection to advertising, and that is the one offered by Joe Doolittle, to the Cinnaminson Scimitar.

"Joe why don't you advertise?" said the editor of the Cinnaminson Scimitar.

"Because I'm agin' advertisin'" Joe answered firmly.

"But why, Joe, are you against it?" said the editor.

"It don't leave a man no time," said Joe. "I advertised wanst in '90 and the consequence wuz, I didn't have time to go fishin'" by erinus, till arter McKinley's second election in 1900."

Cool, Cozy and Comfortable. The Ideal Porch Furniture.

McILVAIN, HUMPHREYS & KNOX.

Furniture Dealers, Funeral Directors and Embalmers. Phone 250.

Summer Is Here

June 21st was the first day of summer and many are looking forward to the bathing season with a great deal of anxiety. We are showing the best line of Men's and Ladies' Bathing Suits that we have ever shown. In the men's we have them in the one and two piece suits with the price ranging from 50c to $2.50. We have a lady's bathing suit for $2.50 that is a peach. We have it in the one piece, and also two pieces with the skirt separate. Before buying you can not afford but to look at ours.

We are headquarters for all Men's Wear—Shirts, Ties, Wash Ties, Collars, Belts, Suspenders, Trousers, Socks, Shoes and everything that a man could possibly wear.

J. WESLEY LEE

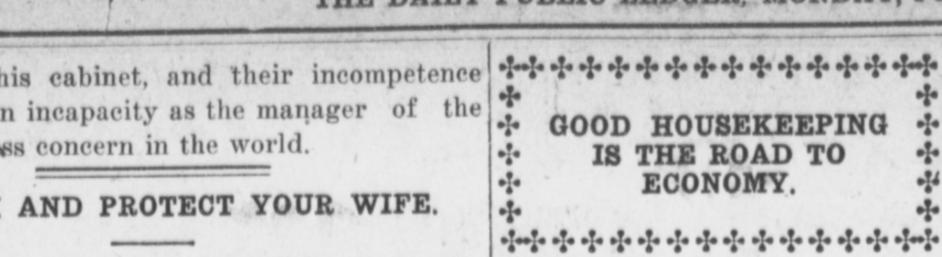

"The Good Clothes Man"

ALWAYS GOOD

Made to order. Chocolates have to be fresh and good. Bissinger's Bordeaux Chocolates are always made fresh for us and by those who eat them are judged the best.

Just received a fresh shipment.

PECOR'S DRUG STORE

stretches where the softest weather reigns.

"In the west and north, and in the east, the country is mostly mountainous, or bewilderingly broken and hilly. Higher mountain ranges almost inclose the crownland, the Julian Alps crossing it in the north, the Venetian Alps breaking deeply into its eastern border and mountain series running along its western boundary. Within the province are a number of peaks of more than 8,000 feet. The chief rivers of the province are the Isonzo and the Timavo, the last named the river that issues fully formed from the mountain side, the mysterious river to which the ancients paid wholesome respect.

"The Goerz and Gradisca crownland is not inhabited principally by Italians. More than two-thirds, about 63 per cent of the people are Slovenes, and the remainder are Italians, with an interspersing of some 2,400 Germans. The population, according to most recent statistics, is 235,000 people. The population is mainly an agricultural one, being distributed through the provinces in small villages. Goerz, the capital of the crownland and its largest city, only has a population of 26,000. Other principal towns are Cormons, Monfalcone, Kirchheim, Gradisca and Aquileia. Not one of these places counts 6,000 citizens.

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

"The crownland has no port of any consequence, its short coast line lacking any good harbor site. Grado, its first port, is accessible to the larger kind of coasting vessels. This place has been reported as captured by the Italians. In general, the coast is fringed with alluvial deposits and drifting sandbars. In the time of the Roman world, Aquileia, here, was a noted seaport, but this city has dwindled now to the size of a small village."

SHOT UP THE TOWN OF MAYSVILLE, KY.

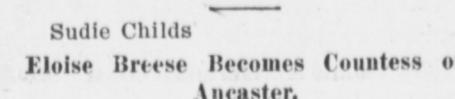

and nobody seriously hurt. The Dixie Amusement Company's photographers have been taking a snap shot of baby, child, store, factory, and in fact, everything of local interest, and will show them all next week, beginning Monday, at the Washington Opera House. Many people have been caught unawares on the street. Come to the big show and see the kiddies at their best; and maybe your own phiz may appear on the scenes. There will be no advance in price of admission and the management will show the accustomed fine program of movies as well, all for the one little nickel or dime, as the case may be.

A good many people would say more if they didn't talk so much.

UNITED STATES GIRLS WHO WED TITLES.

Sudie Childs
Eloise Breece Becomes Countess of Ancaster.

When Eloise Breece, the charming daughter of the late W. L. Breece, of New York, married Lord Willoughby de Eresby, of London, it was considered a most desirable match, as the young lord was the heir of the wealthy Earl of Ancaster. The Earl of Ancaster died on Christmas Day in 1910, and his eldest son, Lord Willoughby, succeeded to the title and an American girl became the Countess of Ancaster.

Mary M. Newell

Lord Willoughby and Eloise Breece were married on December 5, 1910, at St. Margaret's church, Westminster. The ceremony drew a large and distinguished gathering, which included the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, Princess Patricia of Connaught, Ambassador Whitelaw Reid, Miss Reid, Prince Francis Tech and Ladies Dartmouth and Cheylesomer. A detachment of the Lincolnshire Yeomanry lined the aisles.

Harry C. Curran

The title of Lord Ancaster has only existed in the family for about a quarter of a century, the father having succeeded to this title in 1898. The dukedom of Ancaster came into existence in 1715. It became extinct in 1809 with the death of Brownlow de Eresby, to be revived again in 1898 when Baron Willoughby was so singularly honored.

Miss Lucille Agnew

The present Earl of Ancaster is descended from Gilbert Heathcote, who was a court jeweler and Lord Mayor of London in the reign of Queen Anne. The Ancaster estate formerly belonging to the Duke of Ancaster, the Drummond estates, formerly belonging to the earldom of Perth and the Willoughby de Eresby estates have all come into the possession of the present Earl of Ancaster's family through marriage within the last hundred years, and there is no peer of the British realm whose properties, especially the Drummond estates, have been more frequently claimed by people hailing from America.

Mrs. Fred Cabilish

George Dodson

Among them have been a Mrs. Bond, of New York, who claims to be the daughter of Frederick Burrell Drummond, whom she alleges came to America in 1836 and married in New York. While the peerages and works of reference make no mention of his death and leave it to be supposed that he disappeared in the United States, it is a fact that if he had survived his mother, he would have inherited the Willoughby de Eresby peerage as well as the Drummond estates in lieu of his sister Annabella, who married Sir Gilbert Heathcote, first Lord Aveland and grandfather of Lord Ancaster.

Mrs. George Dodson

One of the other claimants has been the daughter of Lord Drummond, grandson of the late Earl of Perth. She resided for many years in Brooklyn. Lord Drummond died in St. Luke's hospital after having earned his living for a time in New York as ticket chopper on the elevated railroad and as a reporter of one of the leading metropolitan daily newspapers.

Mrs. Raymond Dora

The Earl and Lady Ancaster reside when in London in Chesterfield Gardens, but their favorite residence is Drummond Castle, their Scotch estate, the whole of great architectural beauty. It is situated in a park of some 75,000 acres, richly wooded. The southeastern tower dates back to the time of Henry III.

Mitchell Matthews

Drummond Castle stands about three miles southwest of Crewe and the castle gates are reached through grand old avenues, which are stated to be without equal in the United Kingdom. The oldest part of the castle dates from 1491, when it was built by the first lord Drummond, a nobleman whose ancestors descended from the ancient kings of Hungary, came to Scotland with Prince Edward Atheling of England when they fled from the latter country after the death of King Harold, and the battle of Hastings in 1066.

Joe Edmund Matthews

The castle is still surrounded by the world-famed Drummond gardens, laid out by John, second Earl of Perth, in the middle of the seventeenth century.

John Tom Mackay

CONTROLLING THE APPLE BORER

Master Chris Russell
Means By Which Orchardists May Rid Their Trees of This Wide-Spread Pest.

Harry Robinson
Washington, D. C.—"Worming" and painting the trunks of the trees are recommended to owners of apple orchards as efficient methods of dealing with the roundheaded apple tree borer in a new Farmers' Bulletin, No. 675, of the United States Department of Agriculture. A heavy application of some paint that will not injure the trees, but will remain in an unbroken coat on the bark for two or three months, is effective in preventing the female from laying her eggs in the tree, and greatly reduces the amount of worming, or the removal of the insects with a knife and wire, that must be done.

Andrew Clooney
The roundheaded apple tree borer, the most destructive of a number of similar pests, lays its eggs in or under the bark of apple trees. After hatching the larvae feed upon the inner bark and wood to such an extent that the tree is seriously weakened or killed. The pest is found over the whole of the eastern portion of the United States and as far west as Nebraska, Kansas and New Mexico. In addition to fruit trees, it feeds on service, wild crab and mountain ash trees, which makes it advisable for orchardists to remove these varieties for a distance of at least a hundred yards from their orchard.

James Brown

The female lays her eggs, one at a time, in an incision she has made in the bark, usually just above the surface of the ground. About fifteen or twenty days later the eggs hatch and the larvae appear. When full grown these are nearly an inch and a half in length. They first attack the inner bark, eating out broad, more or less circular galleries and thrusting out through small holes in the bark castings which form little heaps of reddish

Miss Alexine Russell
"Friuli is the lowland and hill region at the head of the Adriatic sea, in ancient times one of the thirty-six duchies into which the Langobard divided northern Italy, and since 1866, divided between Italy and Austria. The

W. R. Newell

Friuli district includes the Italian province of Udine and the district of Portogruaro, and the Austrian province of Goerz and Gradisca, together with the so-called Idrian district.

The lower slopes of the Julian Alps in the north, and of the Carnic Alps in the east are included in Friuli.

J. C. Everett

The southern part of this region is a rich alluvial plain, sloping gently into the Adriatic, and watered by the Isonzo and several lesser streams.

Miss Thelma Brown

The whole district, Italian and Austrian, includes about 3,300 square miles of area. It supports about 700,000, largely an agricultural population, and for the most part Italian speaking. The inhabitants of the ancient duchy are called Furlanians. Their speech differs from that of the peninsula Italians in that it is very strongly modified by Celtic words.

L. C. Maitby

Fancy fruits, wines, grapes and grains give lavish harvests in Friuli's mild climate. The table fruits grown here are known as luxuries throughout

Kelly Luman

The most common method of ridding an orchard of these pests is to cut away the bark sufficiently to trace the burrows made by the borer. A hooked wire is then inserted into the burrow and the insect pulled out. If made with care, the wound in the tree serve as an indication of the presence of the borers. Where the

Mrs. Frank Miller

In addition to worming, as this process is called, paint is often used to prevent the beetles laying their eggs. Pure white lead and raw linseed oil, mixed rather thick, will not injure the trees, and when applied to young, smooth bark, will form a protective coat during the egg-laying season. It is probable that this is a more effective manner than wrapping the trees with building paper, cotton batting, cloth or other materials sometimes used for this purpose. Before painting, however, the earth should be removed from the base of the tree for a depth of from three to four inches.

The surface of the trunk thus exposed should be first scraped and painted and the earth then replaced. This is necessary, for the beetle occasionally lays her eggs under instead of above the ground.

Mrs. Courtney Maguire

The essentials in the making of good butter can be secured by any one who will take a little pains. There has been so much discussion of the subject of caring for milk and cream

William Gantry

through the columns of the farm papers that it really seems that a better grade of butter could be made now with modern equipment than at any time in the past. And if a high-grade article can be produced, and it is sent to market packed in a dainty manner that will appeal to the eyes as well as to the tastes of the buyers, it will sell at a price that will assure the producer a good margin of profit.

Mrs. John Janvier

S. Strauss

Albacore and tuna, fish which until recently have been found only in the Mediterranean in sufficient quantities to form the basis of an industry, are said now to be caught in enormous quantities along the coast of southern California.

"PALESTINE"

Virginia Watkins

Washington, D. C.—A demand for the complete neutralization of the Holy Land, which has been growing in strength since the entry of Turkey into the war, and which would take away Palestine from the domination of the Ottoman, and conserve and develop it as a shrine and museum for mankind, lends fresh interest to the observations upon this center of world pilgrimage, recently prepared by James Bryce, former British ambassador to the United States, for the National Geographic Society. That Palestine, after all, would not be so great a reservation for mankind, in point of area, appears in the comments of Lord Bryce upon its size:

"Palestine is a tiny little country.

Though the traveler's handbooks prepare him to find it small, it surprises him by being smaller than he expected. Taking it as the region between the Mediterranean on the west and the Jordan and the Dead sea on the east, from the spurs of Lebanon and Hermon on the north to the desert at Beersheba on the south, it is only 110 miles long and from fifty to sixty broad—that is to say, it is smaller than New Jersey, whose area is 7,500 square miles.

"Of this region large parts did not really belong to Israel. Israel had, in fact, little more than the hill country, which lay between the Jordan and the sea, and the Jordan and the Dead sea on the west. King David, in the days of his power, looked down from the hill cities of Benjamin, just north of Jerusalem, upon Philistine enemies only twenty-five miles off, on the one side, and looked across the Jordan to Moabite enemies about as far off, on the other.

Mrs. C. L. Mathews

"Scutari has military value as commanding northern Albania, and as being a key position on the northern head of the plain that stretches from the town into the country's interior.

It is the most important city in the newly created Albanian nation, having a population of more than 32,000, and some transit and export trade. It has lost considerable of its commerce, however, to Salonica and other neighboring ports which enjoy the advantages of good railway connections.

Another disadvantage under which Scutari suffers is the lack of all port facilities upon its convenient sea-coast.

Emma Schwartz

"Situated beyond the flat, fever-laden coastlands and just beyond the coastal hills, Scutari is effectively closed away from the world, even for Albania. It is built upon the southeastern shore of Lake Scutari, near the confluence of the Drin and Boyana rivers.

The Adriatic lies little more than fourteen miles to the west.

The greater part of the Lake of Scutari, since the settlements brought about by the First Balkan War, is contained within the Montenegrin borders.

The city of Scutari lies just across the Montenegrin boundary, but a short, evening-hour's walk away.

The lake is surpassingly beautiful; its waters are brilliantly clear, the growth upon its banks luxuriant, while the heavy-shouldered mountainous, which give it a setting like a a gem in a ring, greatly increase the effect of the picture. There are numerous, heavily-populated breeding grounds by its shores for aquatic fowl, and the lake, itself, is well stocked with fish.

"The country all around the city is wild—as is most of the area of Albania—and very sparsely settled. The individual Albanian builds him a home, a hut, in the forest on the spur of

"SCUTARI"

Mrs. W. D. Cochran

Washington, D. C.—After weeks of silence, the news comes that the persistent little army of Montenegro has taken to itself Scutari, the principal city and fortress of Albania, which fell before the victorious Montenegrins in the first Balkan war, and from which the soldiers of the mountain kingdom were compelled to retire by the action of Austria-Hungary. The Montenegrins have had considerable practice in attacking Scutari through their 500 years of intermittent struggle with the Turks, and all of the problems involved in an advance by the side of the Lake of Scutari to the city between the mountains are doubtless thoroughly known to the present military leaders of the tiny state.

A description of this city, a strategic point for the domination of northern Albania, is given in the most recent statement of the National Geographic Society, issued in its series of war-geography studies. The statement reads:

Mrs. R. M. Harrison

town, and there is danger of floods

during heavy rains or sudden thaws.

The exports of Scutari are grains, wool, hides, skins, tobacco and sumach. It imports textiles, provisions, metal products and arms. Arms and cotton stuffs are manufactured.

Arms are an important article of commerce in Albania; for, while the Albanian has accustomed himself to going without almost everything, he will not go without rifle."

Emmitt Wilson

MAY, 1915, IMPORTS, EXPORTS

AND BALANCE OF TRADE.

Washington, D. C.—Figures made public today by the Department of Commerce show that May, 1915, imports totaled $142,284,851, against

$164,281,515 in May last year and

$133,723,713 in May, 1913. May exports exceeded by $79,160,671 the largest May record previously made,

M. G. Gary

being $273,768,093 against $194,607,- 422 in May, 1913, and $161,732,619 in

May, last year.

Of the May, 1915, imports, 60.0 per cent entered free of duty, compared</p

Martha Benn

SPECIALS FOR THE HOT SUMMER DAYS

All-wool, blue serge, skeleton lined Sack Coats, special at $3.50.

Palm Beach Suits $6.50 and $7.50.

Outing Shirts 50c, $1 and $1.50.

Outing Ties to wear with Outing Shirts 50c.

A special reduction on all Straw Hats.

Athletic Union Suits 50c, $1 and $1.50.

Always look for the latest at Baker Minton

Geo. H. Frank & Co.
Maysville's Foremost Clothiers.

Mrs. R. M. Harrison

Mrs. Riley Gaither

HERE AND THERE

If you have friends visiting you, or if you are going on a visit, please drop us a note, that effect.

Almeda Huff

Mr. Greeley Claypoole is visiting Mr. M. B. Strode and family.

Mr. Charles Wright left Saturday to visit in central Kentucky.

Katherine Glenn
Mr. Charles McCormack, of Columbus, O., is visiting in this city.

Julia McDaniel
Mr. V. C. Morgan, of Wilmore, was here Sunday.

Margaret Swift
Mr. L. M. True, of Paris, visited in this city Sunday.

Rev. W. B. Campbell
Mr. F. M. Collins, of Paris, was in this city Sunday.

Rev. John Barbour
Mr. J. M. Caldwell, of Paris, spent Sunday in Maysville.

Mrs. Robert Hammond
Mr. George Hickock, of Chicago, is visiting friends here.

Robert Hammond
Mr. E. G. B. Mann, of Lexington, was a visitor here Sunday.

T. J. Bacon
Miss Ella Carr, of Ripley, was a visitor to Maysville Sunday.

Mrs. Patti Hart
Mr. Ben H. Greenlee was a Sunday visitor in Georgetown.

Chris Russell
Mr. J. A. Haly, of Bradford, was a Sunday visitor in this city.

Madeline Farrow
Miss Ethel Owens has returned home after spending her vacation away.

Miss Kate Frye, of Greenup, is the pleasant guest of Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Literal.

Mrs. Alice Winters
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grierson, of Ripley, O., were visitors in Maysville Sunday.

Erma Strode
Mrs. Verner Dryden spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. E. Dryden, at Sandy Springs, O.

Fulton Manchester
Miss Gladys Tomlinson is still suffering with a badly sprained ankle at her home on Lindsay street.

Clark Farrow
Mr. Myer Galanty, of the firm of Galanty & Alper, left today for a sojourn at French Lick, Ind.

Angie Watson
Mr. Wood Noel, wife and two children, of Indianapolis, Ind., are the guests of Mr. E. P. Browning.

Esculine Traxel
Mr. C. C. Clark, of Paris, Sunday visited his mother, Mrs. Nannie Clark, at the home of C. C. Hopper.

Fred McCarthy
Mrs. Charles Nauman and daughter, Stella, left Sunday morning for a several days' visit to relatives in Chicago.

Eugene Jones
Miss Carlye Adamson, of Sardis, is the pleasant guest of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. McKellup and family, of West Third street.

Mrs. William Applegate, of West Second street, and two daughters, left Sunday for a three-weeks' visit at Russell and Ashland.

Miss Ada Dunbar, of Manchester, O., after spending a week with her friend, Mrs. Lorene Dryden, of East Second street, returned home Saturday night.

Mrs. H. T. Ennis, who has been in Cincinnati the past week undergoing treatment by an oculist, returned home Saturday. She was accompanied by her husband.

Mr. Tom Pearce, of Louisville, who has been visiting his friend, Mr. Perrine Owens, for the past few days, returned home Saturday. He will make a return visit later on during the summer.

Joseph Calvert

Mr. Avery D. Rice, who for the last four years has been in the army, and once lived in this city, is in town shaking hands with friends, and will return to his home in Carlisle today. Later he will return to Fortress Monroe.

Charley Dice

Leonidas Wallace

DEVEREAUX PLAYERS

Belle Hall Strode
To Present Three Famous Plays
Here At Beechwood On
July 19 and 20.

Sallie Burgess

Maysville is indeed to have a rare literary treat here on Monday and Tuesday of next week, when the celebrated Devereaux Players, featuring Miss Mary Ward Holton, formerly of this county, as the leading lady in "She Stoops to Conquer," "As You Like It" and "The Fee Unexpected."

Miss Holton is a native of this country, was born near Washington, Ky., and has a large number of relatives living in Maysville and Mason county, who are more than gratified to learn of her wonderful histrionic ability. She is considered by critics as one of the best leading ladies portraying Shakespearean characters now on the stage.

George Elitel

J. P. Schatzmann
American stage. Column after column could be written about her deep conception of the characters she portrays.

Rickey Ishmael
trays, and the able manner in which she handles them.

For several years she was the leading lady with one of America's foremost actors and during that time she received unstinted praise at the hands of the press and theatrical critics. Her character readings are something marvelous and must be seen to be appreciated. Every resident of Maysville

Mrs. Mattie Barbour
ville and Mason county ought to greet her upon her first appearance on the stage in Maysville.

It was by the hardest work that the Mason County Woman's Club, under whose auspices she appears in Maysville, were able to make arrangements.

Freddie Diener
ments for her to give a series of performances here.

Let the pride of Mason county show itself upon this occasion and give our Miss Holton a rousing reception.

Susan Thompson

Sudie Childs

STATE AID FOR COUNTY ROADS

Matt Lindsay

Mason county will get some state aid for its turnpikes at last.

Last week Circuit Judge Newell and County Attorney Rees went to Frankfort to make a try for a portion of the pie to be handed around to the various counties in the commonwealth on condition they do certain things.

After putting up their very best arguments in behalf of the Mason county section of the Garden of Eden, they

Inabelle Gettes
were rewarded by being told that they were undoubtedly entitled to something, and this something will be forthcoming upon the county officials getting busy and performing

Willie Earl Jacobs
their part, and they began business today.

The turnpike story in Mason county is about as follows:

The recent rains have so badly pitted the pikes that they are in a

James Dale
condition that calls for immediate action on the part of those in charge of them, but the lack of funds has caused a hitch. Besides there are three bridges that will have to be at tended to, the cost of which will be about $7,000, and this, added to the cost of building the pike up to the bridges, $1,600, was beyond the county's means.

William Foley

Now as to the state aid:

Willie Jones

If the county will build a mile of model road under state supervision, to extend from the city limits to the first bridge to be rebuilt, the state will stand half of the expense, and also half of the expense of the repairs to the bridges mentioned.

This will make the county's actual outlay only half of the total cost of this important work—in other words, the county will pay $3,500 for $7,000.

Mike Donovan
worth of improvements that have to be made.

This particular work is on the Maysville and Mt. Sterling turnpike, and it is a cinch that County Judge W. H. Rice and his assistants will get busy and gobble that $3,500.

Isaac Childs

OUR COLORED CITIZENS

Prof. Andrew Venie
William Coleman, of Washington, and Elizabeth Christian, of Cincinnati, were granted a license to be married in Washington.

CHURCH NOTES

Clarence Purdon

SUNDAY SCHOOL ATTENDANCE JULY 11.

Christian 200

Baptist 100

Ella McClanahan, Third street.

Third Street M. E. 85

First M. E. South 80

Forest Avenue M. E. 70

Mrs. Jennie Jones

First Presbyterian 85

Second M. E. South 61

Central Presbyterian 41

Apostolic Holiness 38

Mission 24

Mrs. R. H. Newell

Episcopal 20

Total 824

Dennis Kelly

Mrs. Carrie Russell

The hot weather and annual exodus of the people on summer vacations

Georgia Hornback

is cutting down our Sunday schools.

It means harder work and more work for the ones who stay at home.

Jessie E. Willocks

Fred Pollitt

Rev. J. W. Simpson filled Presiding

Elder Morris' appointment at Washington. Rev. Simpson is the right

Mrs. J. B. Orr

man in the right place and the Washington people like to have him come.

Clarine Gettes

Charles Pollitt

Dr. E. G. B. Mann held quarterly meeting at the First M. E. church,

South Sunday. Dr. Mann, after four

Virginia Benson Orr

years of faithful service has made for himself a warm place in the hearts of the people in the Maysville

District. He leaves the district with

Beulah Ingram

the best wishes of all the church people, irrespective of denomination.

James Rasp

The union services at the Central

Presbyterian church was well att-

Simon Clarkson

Don't Miss Seeing Your Baby In the Show.

5c—ADMISSION 10c

Prof. W. J. Caplinger

5c—ADMISSION 10c

Prof. W. J. Cap